RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS

The river was still rising last evening, and is nearly as high as it was after the rise some weeks ago. The reports from above are favorfor a good stage of water. 'Capt. Sinot received a dispatch from Pittsburg yesterday, which stated that the river was rising there and it was

The St. Louis papers of Thursday report the Mosissippi falling with 10 feet water in the channel to Cairo. The Illinois and Missouri were falling, but in good navigable condition. The present rise will make at least three feet water on the bars between this and Smithland. Between Smithland and Cairo the river has risen considerable from the Tennessee and Cumberland.

Steamboat Linden Sunk .- The steamboat Linden, Capt. Hardin, from Shreveport, bound to New Orleans, with 1,090 bales of cotton, struck a snag thirty miles above Campte and sunk to her boiler deck.

We copy the following from the Memphis Appeal:

We learn that the steamer St. Charles made a narrow escape from fire during her last trip.
As tt was, thirty-three bales of cotton were burned and damaged. The fire broke out at Egg Point, which was supposed to be extinguished, but when arrived at Picher's Point fire was again discovered, and it required extraordinary exertions or, the part of the officers and crew to save the boat.

The Moses McLellan is the mailboat for Cincinnati to-day and the Emma Dean is the Carrollton packet.

We are indebted to the attentive clerk of the V. K. Stevenson for copies of the manifest and memorandum. She made the t ip to Cairo and basin eight days. She leaves for Cairo this evening. The Charter is also advertised to leave for Cairo to-day.

The new steamer Gen. Pike, Capt. Fuller. leaves for New Orleans to-morrow morning. The J. S. Pringle, Eunice, and Sam. P. Hibbert are advertised to leave for St. Louis to-day. The Cremona is up for Nashville this evening.

The next step in the Presidential election will be the assembling of the Electoral Colleges. Upon the summons of the respective Governors, the electors of each State will meet at the State Capital on the first Wednesday, in December, and cast their votes for President and Vice President. Then the certified returns of their votes are sealed up and sent to Washington by a special messenger selected by the Electoral College. These returns will be counted by Congress on the second Wednesday in February next and the result made known.

SOUTH CAROLINA - The Legislature of this State met in special session at Columbia on the 3d instant. The Hon. R. F. W. Allston was reelected President of the Senate, and Hon. James Simmons was reelected Speaker of the House, On Tuesday the two Houses on joint ballot elected Presidential electors, who were instructed to vote for Buchanan and Breckinridge for President and Vice President of the United States.

The city council, during their sitting of Thursday night, elected Mr. John W. Gray gineer, vice E. P. Lee, resigned; also M Schert Board supernumerary watchman in the seventh district and Mr. Samuel Simpson alternate tobacco inspector.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says: "The Indian office, I learn, has intelligence that certain Boston capitalists have made arrangements to buy up the whole of the Delaware Trust lands, with a view to planting thereon a free soil colony, to control the political destiny of the Territory.

ANOTHER FOUNDLING .- A colored woman who resides on the alley between Floyd and Brook, and Main and Market streets, on opening her door early on Wednesday morning, found a white infant wrapped up in a blanket lying before it. She took care of it.

[For the Loaisville Journal.] I DREAM OF HOME.

I only see through blinding tears
. The wild vives 'round the docrway elinging, And ever in my weary ears
The wild-birds' sozgs are ringing.

In the still watches of the night Noft sleep to my scaled opes discloses
The Eden of my young delight
Embowered amid its roses.

Once mere in the old home I stand The pressure of my mother's hand, And feel her warm embraces.

Beside the softly flowing rill I see my little brothers playing,
And o'er the graeu and sloping hill
My sweet-voiced sisters straying.

With these dear loved enes, hand in hand, I wander through the mountain passes, Or pausing twine with careless hand A wreath of flowers and grassee,

I muse teside the flowing rill Upon its violet banks reclining, Or elimb, at twilight hush, the hill To watch the snu's declining.

Beside my vine-ciad easement set, 1 touch the harp with skillful fingers, Or watch the western hills, where yet The fading sunlight lingers.

The sloping lawns, the tranquil take. I so: In softest moonlight sleeping. The vision vanishes — I wake To pass the night in weeping.

Official vote of Pennsylvania complete—Buchanau 230,690, Union 203,556, Fremont 147,409, Fillmore fusion 55,838, Fillmore straight

The Governor to-day issued a proclamation declaring the Democratic Electors elected, and ordered their meeting here the first Wednesday in December next.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14, P. M. The river is rising slowly.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.

Dr. M. Price Moore, of this city, who was arrested last summer on a charge of attempting to murder A. S. Livingstou, of Trenton—having, it is alleged, hired two negroes for that purpose—has been arrested again on the same charge. Dr. Moore's own brother has testified against him recently, a feature in the case which makes it rather singular.

The Fillmore American Council of Massa chusetts met in this city yesterday afternoon. Resolutions were adopted acknowledging the supremacy of the National American organiza declaring in favor of the purification of the ballot, and the prevention of any interfer-ence of church hierarchies with politics; the protection of American men, American rights, and American interests; an open Bible and free schools; a registry law in every State; a modification of the naturalization laws; and, in fine, for the general principle that Americans shall rule America.

Washington, Nov. 11, 1856. This unfortunate Cabinet no sooner gets out of one trouble, than another springs up to trouble its dreams. The election is over, and the Mosquito question was almost settled, that bete noir of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty snaps its ugly teeth in its face.

It is kept out of sight as much as possible but the fact is, this ridiculous treaty binds the United States to protect all contractors for a mail and passage transit across the American Isthmus from "seizure and confiscation." The consequence of this stupendous blunder of American diplomacy is that our Government is bound to re-instate the late Accessory Transit bound to re-instate the late Accessory Transcriction.

Company, which the Walker Rivas government selzed and confiscated, or tt must pay the damages resulting to the company. There has been much side talk and round about diplomacy on Transit business, but Davis, as well a Cushing and Marcy, and one, if not two judges of the Supreme Court, own that the United States are bound to this, by the express conditions of this sapient Clayton Bulwer treaty.

Important from England - Private letters received in this city from the Hon. George M. Dallas, United States Minister to the Court of St. James, by his confidential friends, convey the important intelligence that he has succeeded in negotiating a treaty between the United States and England, which covers and settles all the points in dispute between the two countries. It points in dispute between the two countries. It has been the earnest desire of President Pterce and Secretary Marcy to accomplish this difficult task before retiring from office, so that all sosible troubles might be smoothed away for the incoming administration. The instructions given to Mr. Dallas, when he entered upon his mission, have been zealously acted up to by him, and the result has been most happy, as above noted.—Phil. North Assertan.

LATER FROM THE RIO GRANDE—Success of Vidaurri.—By an arrival we have received the important intelligence that Gen. Vidaurri has taken Camargo, and would advance on Matamoros soon. These advices are confirmed by the passengers and by private letters brought by the Chrysolite. The report received by the Anta from Tampico, some days since, that an arrangement had been made between Vidaurri and Gaiza, is proved to have been unfounded.

LATER FROM THE RIO GRANDE—Success of in full on his contract for building Portland Mr. Overatl, from the Street Committee of the Eastern District, reported a resolution allowing the intreet hands of the Eastern District their pay from the 16th to the 29th of October, 1856, A resolution was presented from the Board of Aldermen allowing W. K. Thomas $866.86 to the Chrysolite. The report received by the following vote:

Yeas — President Monsarrat and Messrs. Baird, Caswell, Gilliss, Kendall, Monroe, Pone, Ray, Sargent, and Newman—10.

An important letter from Vidauri's camp

An important letter from Vidauri's camp. written previously to the surrender of Camargo, will be found below.

We have also received the Boletin Oficial, of Monterey, (Vidaurri's organ,) to the 19th ult., which states that there was a great spirit of enthusiasm throughout the States of Nuevo Leon and Coahuila in favor of Vidaurri. Its leading artices assume that there is now a direct issue between "Central" and "Frontier" Mexico, and boldly assert that the forces of the Central Government cannot overcome those of the Frontier.

Advices had been received at Monterey of the intended advance of Gen. Rosas Landa from San Luis Potosi to Matahuela.

CAMP. VIDAUERI, Near Camargo, Oct. 21. Here I am in the camp of the deliberating rmy. There are here upwards of 2,000 men, as fine looking set of fellows as I ever saw to-gether. There are coming from Linares 600 more, with six cannon. Garza has but 800, all told, and four small guns. Vidaurri was shelltold, and four small guns. Vidaurri was shelling the town of Camargo yesterday, having just received a mortar from Monterey. Artillery is in charge of E. Jordon, from Laredo, who is an engineer, and a very able man. His shot from the mortar worked beautifully, and knocked the houses about the ears of the Camargo folks. We could see the houses tumble from the camp.

They have completed the boats, and only await the arrival of Saragosa with the additional force, who is coming down on the other side of the San Juan. 'Upon his arrival the whole force will cross.

When Vidaurri starts, his intentions are to continue on to Matamoros; there to Tampi-co and San Luis Potosi to Monterey. Last night expresses came in from several parts of the interior. Several towns had pronounced for Vidaurri, and there were no good troops that could be sent down to oppose him; so you see his cause is prospering. Everything here is all enthusiasm. The men were paid off yesterday, and have a pletty of manager.

INTERRUPTED IN THEIR JOURNEY .- On Wed nesday night last there was quite an affray between some runaway slaves and their master and his friends, just below the Fifth street ferry larding, on which occasion several pistols were fired—fortunately, though, without injury to any one. It appears that two slaves, of the masculine gender, to property of Mr. Joseph Belden, living just on the edge of Kenton county, some fifteen or twenty miles back of Covington, made their escape on Wedesday morning. They had indiscreetly intrusted their secret with one of their escape. irg. They had indiscreetly intrusted their secret with one of their companions, who refused to accompany them, but who, not long after they had left, informed his master of their flight. Accompanied by a neighbor, Mr. Harvey Stevens, he left some two or three hours after their departure in pursuit of the fugitives. Being mounted on two good horses, and suspecting the runaways would take the nearest way to the river, they directed their course to Covington. Arriving there Mr. R. angigned Covington. Arriving there, Mr. B. engaged some eight or ten men, satisfied that he had arrived in advance of them, and stationed them along the river bank, from just below the city of Covington to a mile below the Fifth street ferry, all being within hailing distance.

The owner was satisfied they would not attempt to cross until late at night, and sure enough they did not. We ought to state that Mr. B and a good, stout man stationed themselves on this side the river, within seeing distance of the Fifth street ferry landing.

Between twelve and one o'cicck at night the party this side (it was bright moonlight) saw a skiff approaching the shore within a few yards of the spot where they were lying in wait, rappidly followed by two others in pursuit. the first skiff touched the shore the negros hopped out, but they had not accomplished ten steps upon free ground before they were seized upon by their owner and his companion. Then commenced a struggle for the mastery during which several pistol-shots were fired. The scuille was of short duration, as the two skiffs in pursuit arrived with their occupants to aid in the capture. Mr. Belden succeeded in securing his property, and, without waiting for the remand-ing of a commissioner from this side of the river, he took them home with him, declasing t should be the last time they would make an attempt to escape while they belonged to him.

SATURDAY EVENING, NOV. 15, 1856.

It is stated that the engagements of the Credit Mobilier, of Paris, and of French capitalists to build and finish railways in Russia, Austria, and Spain exceed five hundred millions of dollars, that is, exclusive of their domestic wants for internal improvements and other industrial enterprises, and for these engagements there are many English capitalists committed. This latter fact accounts in a large degree for the course of exchange continuing against England so long and unintermittedly. The ordinary requirements of commerce would not have brought England so largely in debt. These enormous ergagements for improvements in foreign countries are likely to affect the mometary world for some time to come, es they divert capital from ordinary channels.

It is a head-some volume of 842 pages, and reflects great credit on the secretary, under whose supervision it was published. We shall probably have occasion to refer to its contents, which seem to be well selected and arranged.

EXPLOSION OF A SHIP. - A large Russian bark, the Frederick Redziff, in the barbor of Cardiff, Wales, loading with coal, exploded on the 25th of Oct., from the Ignition of carburetted hydrogen gas contained in her bold. The accident is thus described:

A coal-trimmer named Clode, going on board to commence his work, found the hatches down, although the crew had on Saturday night been desired to leave them open; he made three attempts to strike a light with a match without success. He then called for a candle, which was brought by one of the crew, when the gas took fire, and a terrible explosion en-It being quite dark at the time, the sheet of flame was seen ascending to a great height, while the blazing fragments of the wreck shot through the air like rockets; the adjacent dock and the rigging of the ill-fated vessel took fire but, as it was the hour when the railway and dock laborers were assembling for work, the flames were speedily extinguished, and measures taken for the relief of the wounded. It found that one of the crew had been killed on the spot.

The male of the British ship Pandora, lying at No. & dock, was killed while standing en the deck by a beam falling on his head; the first mate of the Prussian bark had been blown into the water of the dock, whence he was rescued by the crew of a vessel lying near; the second mate had been blown through the side of the round-house on his bed, and was found lying on the quay on his bed; he was taken to the inwhere it was found that he had sustained a fracture of the pelvis. The remainder of the crew were suffering from the effects of burns and fractures. Eleven of the sufferers were conveyed to the infirmary, where they were promptly attended, not only by the house surgeon, but by nearly the whole of the medical men in town, who volunteered their assist-

One of the unfortunate men died soon after making the third death from this sad occur-Six of the others are laboring under fractures as well as burns, and one is in such state that death is hourly expected. The coal trimmer, Clode, though in the hold, escaped with some severe burns, and was removed to his own home. Some idea of the force of the explosion may be formed from the fact that one of the anchors, weighing about 35 cwt., was blown over the forestay, from 15 to 18 feethigh; it then fell into a barge alongside, which it sank. The coal tip was blown nearly to pieces, and the railway was covered with pieces of wreck, the maintopmast was blown away, and in fact the vessel was blown to pieces; not a vestige of the deck remains. Her stern is blown out, and her stem also, while the sides are com-pletely shattered. She was quite a new vessei, and this was her first voyage. She has sunk in about 12 feet water. The windows of several houses in the Bute dock road were broken, and the report of the explosion was heard at places fully three and four miles from the town, as well as at sea.

IMPORTANCE OF RECREATION. -The Hon. Edward Everett used the following language in a recent speech:

"The Americans as a people-at least, the pro fessional and mercantile classes-have to tle considered the importance of healthful. generous recreation. They have not learned the lesson contained in the very word which teaches that the worn-out man is recreated, made over again, by the seasonable relax-ation of the strained faculties. The old world learned this lesson years ago, and found, that, as the tow always bent will at last break, so the man, forever on the strain of thought and action, will at last go mad or break down. Thrown upon a new continent, eager to do the work of twenty centuries in two, the Anglo-American population has over-worked and is daily over-working itself. From morn-ing to night—from January to December brain and hands, eyes, fingers, the powers of the body, and the powers of the mind arespas-modic, merciless activity. There is no lack of a few tasteless and soulless dissipations which are called amusements, but noble athletic sports, manly out-door exercises, vated in town or country. out-door exercises, are too little culti-

After perusing the above extract from Mr. Everett's speech, the professional gentleman, the untiring merchant, and the laborious artizan and mechanic must feel that to seek rest or a recreation from his constant toil cannot fail to fit and qualify him for the duties of the approaching business season.

A LIBEL UPON CAPE COD .- This libellous paragraph appears in a late English paper:

In the vicinity of Cape Cod two apple trees and a gooseberry bush are called an orchard Boreas owns five plum trees and is looked upon as an aristocrat. One year they don't bear and the next they can't—the school-boys using the fruit for bullets to kill owls with. Great country, that Cape Codl

Who Goes Below .- A son of Erin having hired his services to cut some lce was asked if he could use the cross-cut saw. He replied that "he could, surely." He was sent accordingly in company with some of his co-laborers to cut some lce, and on reaching the centre of the pond the saw was produced with both handles still in their place. The verdant son, looking at the saw, very coolly put his hand in his pocket, and, drawing from it a cent, turned to his companion, and, raising the cent, said—"Now, Jeanmie, fair play; head or tail, who goes below!"

OPPOSED TO MATRIMONY -- Is your family "Wal, no, I rather guess not, seein' as my mother had four husbands, and stands a pretty smart chance of havin' another."

"Four husbands! Is it poseible?" "Oh, yes. You see my mother's name was Mehitable Sheets, and dad's name was Jacob Press; and when they got married the printers said it was puttin' the sheets to press. When I was born they said it was the first edition. An' you see, mother used to be the tarnalest critter to go to evenla' meetins. She used to be out pretty late every night, and dad was afraid l'd get in the habit, so he used to put me to bed at early candle-light and cover me with a pillar, and put me to sleep with a boot jack. Wal, got up every night an' let mother in, an' if dad got up every night at? let mother in an' it he didn't get down and open the door pretty darned quick, when she'd come, he'd ket ch particular thunder; so dad used to every with his head out of the window, so as so walze up quick; an' one night he got his head a lit de too far out, and down dad come, coffammax, right down on the pavement, and smasked him in ten thousand pieces." "What was he killed by the fall?"

"Wai, no; not exactly by the fall. Rather kinder sorter guess it was the sudden fetch up on the pavement that killed him. But, mam she come home and found him lyln' thar, and she had him swept up together, and put in a coffin, en had a hole dug in the buryin' ground, an' had dad put in an' buried up, at' had a white wak plank put up to his head, and had it whitewashed all over for a tombstone."

Se your mother was left a poor widow?" "Wal, yes, but she didn't mind that much, for 'twasn't long before she married Sam Hide because he was just dad's size, and she wanted him to wear out dad's old clothes. Wal, the way old Hide used to hide me was a caution to my hide. Hide had a little the roughest hide of any hide except a buil's hide, and way Hide used to hide away liquor in his hide was a caution even to a buil's hide. Wal, one cold day, ole Hide got his hide so full of whisky that he pitched head first into a snow bank, and there he stuck and friz to death. So, man had him pulled out, and then she had another kole dug in the burying ground, and had him buried and then she had another white oak plack put up at his head, and whitewashed all

So your mother was again a widow?" "O, yes, but I guess she didn't lay awake long to think about it; for in three weeks she married Sam Strong—an' he was the strongest headed cuss you ever did see. He went a fishin' the other day an' got drowned; he was so tarnal strong headed, I'll be darned to darnation if he didn't float right agin the current, an' found him about three miles up the stream, and it took three yoke of oxen to haul him out.
Wal, mam had him buried alongside o' tother two, and he had a white oak plank put up at his head, an' whitewashed all over nice; so there is three on 'em in a row."

"And your mother was a widow for the third time? "Yes, but mam didn't seem to mind it a tarnation sight. The next fellow she married was Jacob Hays, and the way mam does make him haze is a caution, now I tell ye. If he does anything a leetle out of the way, mam makes him take a bucket and go right up to the bury-in' ground and whi'ewash the three oak planks, just to let him know what he may come to when he's planted in the same row, and she's got married to the fourth husband So you see ny family arn't a tarnal sight opposed to a dose

Love, Seduction, and Lunacy-Singular Case. - About a year ago a charge of seduction and breach of promise of marriage was brought by a young girl, who was living in the family or Mr. Slingerland, son of Hon. John I. Slingerland, against Mr. Abraham La Grange, of the town of New Scotland, a farmer, some thirty years of age, and who was in comfortable circumstances in a worldly point of view. The couple had been keeping company for some time, and Mr. La G. was often heard to express the warmest affections for the girl These expressions were frequently repeated after the above serious charge was made against him, and he caused his friends much surprise that he did not marry the girl. But he protested his innocence in the most earnest terms, but remarked that he could not subject himself to the odium that would attach to an honest man by marrying a girl who had sacrificed her honor. The case was finally brought sound, healthy flash. For every pound of such, before the court, and the enormous verdict of $10,000 was brought against him. His lawyers have lately succeeded in getting a new trial ordered. Of this he was ignorant until to-day, when, coming into town with his team, he was apprised of the fact. The news was most gratliving to him, but it came so unexpectedly so suddenly that it gave so severe a shock to his mental faculties as to produce insanity, probably only temporary; but, as it is in a measure hereditary with his family, the worst fears are entertained by his friends, who are afraid that he will never wholly recover. He was conveyed to the City Asylum He is said to be worth $12,000, has always borne a good character, and his friends are now satisfied that he was not guilty of the charge brought against him. They think that the girl had been the victim of some married man, who, representing to her the inutility of prosecuting him, has induced her, in her desperate situation, to prosecute her true lover, he being worth quite a sum of money and the fact of their keeping company together furnishing plausibility to the grave charge. Albany Argus, Nov. 8.

Extravagance in Dress-Its Effects upon the Market.—In a city of Belglum extravagance has assumed such alarming proportions that the ladies themselves have been obliged to combine for the purpose of arresting its disastrous pro-gress. It appears that extravagance had been for some years a source of constraint in fami-lies, and it was noticed no marriages were con-tracted, since the young men, frightened at the bills that loomed up in the distance, preferred to live in celibacy. The mothers, recognising the inconvenience of a state of affairs encour-aged by themselves, have resolved to bring about salutary reform, and with this view they have formed a committee which meets once a week. They have declared open war with ex travagance, and every member announces pubthe retrenchments made in her own house

A Cold Time Coming .- Some German paper: are endeavoring to prove that the distance be-tween the earth and the sun is increasing annually, and argue from it that the increasing hu midity of some summers and the loss of fertility by the earth are to be attributed to this circumby the earth are to be attributed to this circumstance. In the course of six thousand years from the present time, they assume the distance will be so great that only the eighth part of the warmth we now enjoy from the sun will be communicated to the earth, and it then will be covered with eternal ice.

The Countess Fitz-james, and of the countess fitz-james lady of ly, was a lady of ere beauty and accomplishments, and mar need the son of Duke Fitz amer, the line at descendant of the Stuarts

While sittle about five weeks ago, with her sons and dragater in the drawing room of her beautiful state of Marly'le Roi, her muslin robe sudden barrst forth in flames. It would appear that accidentally it had come in contact with a barrier watch which had fallen on with a fucifer match which had fallen on the floor. In an instant her sons rushed to door curtain, and by tearing off a portiere or it, had nearly subdued the flames, when, suddenly, the unhappy countess was horror-struck, and perceiving that her daughter, whose dress was of the same material, by approaching to near to her, was in imminent danger of benear to her, was in imminent danger of be-ing ignited like herself—forgetting everything but her child's peril, she pushed her from her; and that she might not again touch her, the Countess rushed from the drawing room through an open window on to the lawn, making at once for a small fish-pond some two or three feet deep, into which she designed to plunge herself, and thus quench the flames. Unfortunately, on arriving at the fish-pond, the gate of the small wire fence which surrounded it was found to be locked, and the poor lady now one mass of flames—so greatly had he passage across the lawn increased it-could only in despair throw herself upon the grass and by rolling herself over make a valueffor to exlinguish the fire. An old man servant ran to her assistance and got severely burnt in his efforts to aid her; and then one of her sons came and lifting his mother in his arms broke down the wire fence and plunged her into the pond.

For five weeks the suffering lady endured state of torment which, to use her own words was as if she had been day and night in a boil-ing cauldron, but, at last, death came and put an end to her agonies. She was universally respected by all classes.

TRAVELING FOR PLEASURE VIEWED MEDI CALLY .- In the last number of the Boston Medical World we find some suggestive hints on this subject, the pith of which we will endeavor to give in a few lines.

The writer thinks that in our country there is much travel, ostensibly for health, where, in his cpinion, the injury far surpasses the gain. Inexorable fashion says, we must go from our home in dog-days; and in obedience to her mandate there is a rush in all our cities and lowns, from the metropolis down to the smallest village, to the place where this "goddess" specially presides. This is the season when the quiet and comfort of home are the most healthtul and necessary. But, instead of this, we find people determined to exchange the large airy, brick-walled rooms of the town, and the cool mattress and fine linen, for the heating cotton, greasy feathers, and dirty sheets of a tavern, or a pent-up village or watering-place, hotel, or boarding-house.

But who, asks the Doctor, could live through a hot summer without visiting Nahant, New-port, Saratoga, or Niegare? He does not deny them an occasional trip to such places, but pretests against taking the hottest season to make these visits, with the expectation of thereby promoting health. At the season usually taken, he says, the crgans of digestion are the least able to discharge their function. They sympa-thize with all the other parts of the body; and, like them, require rest; and, he asks, is this the time to leave the frugal, wholesome fare at home, and rush to the gathering places, where every board groans with its life-killing feasts, and where the luxuries provided and the exciting presence and example of hundreds mouths, eager to reward the purse at the ex-pense of the stomach, render it next to impossib'e to obey the laws of health? where, besides this poor pack-horse, this groaning organ, is teased with mineral waters, wines, bitters, pills tohacco juice and tobacco fumes, to ease itself of its cumbersome burdens.

Dr. Smith maintains that there is nothing more delusive than the generally received impression that people are growing better, be-cause, as they suppose, they are gaining flesh. Under the spasmodic action of this paraphernalia of stimula-ts, there is often an appearnature will be reverged.

Hence it is, the doctor argues, that most persons soon after a return from such fashionable gathering places have an attack of dyspeps a, billiousness, sick-headache, pulmonary affection, or cutaneous eruption. These abuses occurring periodically, undermine the best con-

Taking children to such places the writer denounces as the very consummation of folly. More than half the so-called diseases of the season, and the deaths of children which occur in August and September, arise, he says, from this fashionable dissipation. No place is so this fashionable dissipation. No place is so good for children, if you wish them to live, as a quiet home. But to take them to places of fashionable resort, and stuff them with tempt ing viands, gravies, puddings, and pastries, is to cheat them out of two of the best things in the world—a good conscience and a good stom-

SAN MARCOS, TEXAS, Oct. 7, 1856. I have a mule that I raised, three years old in June last, that now has a colt by her side. Please say what I must call it. Its ears are not like the mule nor the horse. In other respects it resembles the mule. If any one disputes it I have the mule and her colt in my lot; the doubting Thomases can see for themselves.

An Arabian Widow. - When an Arab woman intends to marry again after the death of her first husband, she comes in the night before her first husband, she comes in the night before her second marriage, to the grave of her dead husband. Here she kneels, prays to him, and entreats him "not to he offended—not to be jealous." As, however, she fears he will be jealous and angry, the widow brings with her a donkey, laden with two goat-skins of water. Her prayers and entreeties being done, she proceeds to pour on the grave the water to keep the first husband cool under the irritating circumstances about to take place, and having well saturated him she departs.

Something in a Name.—The Gazette of Madrid states that the new born child of the Queen's sister, the Duchess of Montpensier, is a robust infant, and that Her Royal Highness, the most serene baby, has received, in baptism, the following names: Maria de Regla Francisca de Asis, Antonia-Luiza-Fernanda-Amalia-Felipa-Isabel-Adelaida-Cristina-Josefa-Joaquina Justa-Rufina-Lutzarda Carolina-Biblana Polonia-Gaspara-Melchora-Baltasara-Ana-Agueda-Lucea-Francisca de Paula-Romana, taus les seints, Bigada-Dionisia.

SHARP RETORT - Roger Sherman was representative in Congress from Connecticut; his business had been that of making shoes. John Randoiph, whe had Indian blood in him, rose, and, with his usual squeaking sounds, said: "I would like to know what the gentleman did with his leather apron before he set out for Washington " Mr. Sherman replied, imitating the same squeak: "I cut it up, sir, to make moccasins for the descendants of Pocahontas."

Long Winded .- A foreign journal states that Rogeli, trumpet-major and band master of the Artillery of the Guard, was to celebrate at Berlin his fiftieth year of continual service, and this with uninjured lungs In honor of the occasion there was to he a monster concert by an orchestra playing upon 490 instruments—most of them brass This Rogell blew the retreat at Jena, and the advance at Laipsic and Waterioo. Whatever else may be said of the musical veteran, it is certainly true that he has
"blown his own trumpet?" longer and with more safety, success, and renown than most men who perform a similar operation.

A PERFUMED BREATH .- What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a dis agreeable breath when by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet but leave the teeth whi e as alabaster? Many persons do not know heir breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate heir friends will never mention it.
